SECRETS REVEALED

Welcome to the world of tiaras. This book reveals the coveted secrets of creating handcrafted tiaras. With a few simple tools, materials and these step by step instructions, you can create your first tiara within a few hours.

It is a good idea if you have never worked with wire before, to cut off a few pieces and practice with it, to get the feel of the wire and working with your tools. You should also practice using your fingers to shape the wire. It might help you to make the simple tiara first, to get the feel of things, but it is not necessary.

Do not worry if your tiara does not look exactly the same as the illustrations. They are there to guide and help you.

This is just the beginning. Once you have mastered the basic techniques, you can experiment to create your own beautiful designs. Just by changing the shape of the beads or mixing them, you can get a whole other look.

You never know, one tiara could turn into hundreds of tiaras and start you on the path of your own business.

TIARA BASICS

Wire

Wire comes in many sizes, shapes and colors. It can be silver-plated, sterling silver, 14 karat gold or colored. The size of wire is measured in gauges. For tiaras you will need between a 24 to 28 gauge depending on the size of your beads. If you are using freshwater pearls you will need a 26 to 28 gauge because the holes are tiny.

You can find wire at your local craft store or bead store. Do not use wire from the hardware store or picture frame wire. These will tarnish or rust.

(Tip: Buy your beads first. It's easier to find the right gauge wire to fit your beads than trying to find beads to fit your wire.)

Beads

There are thousands of styles and colors of beads to choose from. The most popular for wedding tiaras are called Swarovski Crystal beads. They have the most sparkle but they are more expensive.

Bead sizes are measured in millimeters. For tiaras you should use a 4mm to 6mm bead. If you are using freshwater pearls they should be between a 5mm to 8mm.

Tools

The tools you will need are a mini needle-nose pliers, mini round-nose pliers and a mini wire cutters. Some needle-nose pliers have a wire cutter on them, which will save you a little money. Optional tools are a wire straightener, bent angle pliers and a mini metal file or sometimes called a jeweler's file. You can find these at your local bead shop, craft store or even some hardware stores.

(Tip: Wrap each side of your needle-nose pliers with a piece of duct tape or masking tape so the "teeth" of the pliers doesn't mar your wire.)

Tiara Bases

The base of a tiara is a thin metal headband or sometimes called a tiara band. These come silver colored, gold colored or silver-plated. If you cannot find tiara bases, you can make your own with 18 or 20 gauge wire. To make a base, cut a length of wire 26 inches long. You can use your metal file to smooth the ends. Fold the wire in half, making sure that they are even. Measure 1/2" from each end and place one of your pliers at these spots. Twist the wires with the pliers while holding with the other one until they are taut. Leave the ends untwisted.

An easier way is to use a drill. Measure 1/2" from one end. Put this into the drill chuck and tighten it around the wire. Measure 1/2" from the other end of your wire. Hold from this spot with your needle-nose pliers or put it in a vise. Push the trigger and slowly twist the wire until it's taut.

Holding the base with one hand, use your round-nose pliers to make a small loop at each end . These loops can be used to pin in your tiara to hold it in your hair.

Do not shape your base until you have finished placing all your beads. The base should be shaped like a horseshoe. To do this, bend the base around a coffee can or something similar.

Now let's get started!

A SIMPLE TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters

1. To start you need to make the "stems." Cut a length of wire 5 1/2 inches. Thread on a bead and bring to the center of the wire. Bend the wire sides down. See Figure 1.
2. Hold the bead between your index finger and thumb. With your other hand use the needle-nose pliers to hold the bottom of the wire. Twist the wire below the bead until there is 1 1/4 inches left from the bottom. Make 5 of these.
3. For the shorter stems cut another length of wire 4 1/2 inches. Make these the same as the longer stems. Make 6 of these.
4. Find the center of your base. Take one large stem and place it behind the base. The twisted part should be at the top of base. The extra wire is going to wrap around the base on either side of the stem.
5. With one hand, using your needle-nose pliers, hold one of the wires. Hold the base with your other hand. Start from the back and wrap the wire towards the front 3 times for a good hold. Cut off any excess.
6. Take the other wire and bring it towards the front. Wrap the wire from front to back a few times. Cut off any excess.

(Tip: When wrapping, end the wires in the front so they will not poke when the tiara is being worn.)
7. Continue to attach 5 stems alternating large and small on each side of the center stem. Space them 3/8 to 1/2 inch apart. See Figure 2. If you need to move a stem, loosen the wire a little and slide it over. Use your needle-nose pliers to pull the wire tight and flatten it back down.

8. To finish your tiara, cut a piece of wire about 3 feet long. Starting at one side, before the first stem, wrap the wire a few times around the base using your needle-nose pliers.
9. String on a bead on the other wire. Wrap it twice around the base. Keep the bead flat against the base. It will be at a slight angle.
10. Continue this way until you get to the last stem. Finish off by wrapping the wire around the base a few times and cut off the excess. Flatten down the ends with your needle-nose pliers. Your tiara should look like Figure 3.

Congratulations! You have just made your first tiara.

DAISY TIARA

You Will Need

- * Beads or Pearls
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters

1. To make a stem, cut a piece of wire 5 1/2 inches long. String on 6 beads and bring to the center. Bend into a U-shape.
2. Hold the beads with one hand. Take the wire ends and cross them directly under the bead ends. Use your needle-nose pliers to make 2 or 3 twists.
3. Push slightly on the beads to make a more rounded shape. Twist the rest of the wire until there is 1 1/4 inches left from the bottom. Make 5 of these. See Figure 1.
4. For the shorter stems, cut 6 pieces of wire 4 1/2 inches long. Take one wire and string on a bead. Bring it to the center and bend the sides down.
5. Hold the wires with your needle-nose pliers and the bead with your other hand. Twist the bead until there is 1 1/4 inches left from the bottom.
6. Find the center of your base. Take one daisy stem and place the end of the twisted wire at the top of the base. With one hand, using your needle-nose pliers, hold one side of the extra wire. Hold the base with your other hand. Wrap the wire from back to front a few times and cut off any excess. Bring the other wire to the front and wrap from front to back.
7. Alternate stems, continuing to attach them the same way on both sides. Space them 1/2 inch apart. See Figure 2.
8. To finish your tiara cut a piece of wire 3 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end. Make a bend at this point. Place the bend at the top of the base, just before the first stem. Holding the wire in place, wrap the wire back towards the end.

9. String on a bead on the other wire and wrap twice around the base. Keep the bead flat against the base. The bead will be at a slight angle.
10. Continue to attach beads the same way until you get to the last stem. Finish off by wrapping the wire a few times around the base and cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

DREAM TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Assorted Beads or Pearls
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Round-Nose Pliers
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters
- * Flexible Ruler or Cloth Measuring Tape
- * Black Marker

1. Cut 3 feet of wire. Find the center of your base. Make a dot on the back of the base at this point. Measure 3 inches from the center dot to one side and mark this point. Do the same for the other side.
2. Starting from one of the side dots, wrap the wire a few times around the base with your needle-nose pliers.
3. String on a bead. Hold your round-nose pliers open and wrap the wire around it making a loop. The wire can be wrapped tight for a small loop or loose for a bigger loop. To make a wave or half loop, wrap the wire halfway around your finger bending it in the direction you want. See Figure 1.
4. Every few loops or waves, wrap the wire once around the base. Add beads as you like, either every few loops or every loop. As you are making loops, weave some of them through each other to make it stronger. See Figure 2.
5. If you start to run out of wire, wrap the wire around the base a few times to end. Cut another 3 feet of wire and wrap a few times to secure to the base. Continue to make loops and waves until you get to the other side mark. Wrap the wire a few times to the end and cut off any excess. To fill it in more, cut another piece of wire 3 feet long and again make loops and waves to the other side. Wrap a few times and cut off any excess.
6. To finish your tiara, cut a piece of wire 3 1/2 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end. Make a bend at this point with your needle-nose pliers. Hold the bend on top of the base, before the first stem. Wrap from this point back toward the end.

7. String a bead on other wire and wrap it twice around the base.

Keep the bead flat against the base. It will be at an angle. Continue this way until you get to the last stem. Wrap the wire around the base a few times and cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

WILLOW TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters
- * Ruler or Measuring Tape

1. To make a branch cut a piece of wire 10 inches long. String on a bead and bring to the center of the wire.
2. Bend each side of the wire against the bead. Use your needle-nose pliers to hold the wire 1/2 inch down. Holding the bead, twist the wire to the pliers.
3. Separate the extra wire into two. String on a bead to one side. Measure 1/2 inch from the twisted end. Bring the bead to this point and bend over the wire.
4. Use your needle-nose pliers to hold the wire, twist the wire with the bead. Push the wires back together. Twist the wire 4 times and separate again. One wire will be longer than the other.
5. String on a bead to the other wire of the branch. If the longer wire is not on this side, twist or untwist the wires once.
6. Measure 1/2 inch from the twisted end. Bring the bead to this point. and bend over the wire. Holding the wire with your needle-nose pliers, twist the bead.
7. Repeat steps 5-7. See Figure 1. Make 6 of these.
8. Find the center of your base. Hold the stem at the back of the base with the twisted end at the top. Using your needle-nose pliers, wrap one of the end wires around the base from back to front a few times and cut off any excess.

9. Pull the other end wire towards the front and wrap from front to back a few times. Cut off any excess. Continue to attach the stems the same way, spacing them 1 inch apart. See Figure 2.
10. To finish your tiara, cut a piece of wire 3 1/2 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end. Make a bend at this point with your needle-nose pliers. Hold the bend on top of the base, before the first stem. Wrap from this point back toward the end.
11. String a bead on other wire and wrap it twice around the base. Keep the bead flat against the base. It will be at an angle. Continue this way until you get to the last stem. Wrap the wire around the base a few times and cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

PRINCESS TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters

1. To make the center stem, cut a piece of wire 5 1/2 inches long. String on 3 beads and bring to the center.
2. Bend slightly in half. Cross the two wires. Holding the wires with your needle-nose pliers and the beads with your hand twist the beads until there is 1 1/4 inches left. See Figure 1.
3. For the middle stems, cut 4 pieces of wire 5 inches long. String on 3 beads and bring to the center. Repeat step 2 for each stem.
4. For the small stems cut 4 pieces of wire 4 1/2 inches long. String on 3 beads and bring to the center. Repeat step 2 for each stem.
5. Find the center of your base. Place the longest stem at the back. The twisted wire should be at the top-edge.
6. Using your needle-nose pliers, wrap one wire from back to front a few times. Cut off any excess. Pull the other wire towards the front. Wrap this wire from front to back a few times. Cut off any excess.
7. Next, place a medium stem 1/2 inch apart from the center and repeat step 6. Attach another medium stem then 2 small stems each 1/2 inch apart. See Figure 2.
8. For the other side, repeat the pattern attaching 2 medium stems then 2 small stems, each 1/2 inch apart.
9. To finish your tiara cut a piece of wire 3 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end. Make a bend at this point. Place the bend before the first stem, on top of the base. Wrap from this point back towards the end of the wire.

10. String a bead on the wire and wrap around the base 2 times. Keep the bead flat against the base. Continue to string on beads and attach the same way until you get to the last stem. Wrap the wire a few times and cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

FLORA TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters
- * Flexible Ruler or Vinyl Measuring Tape
- * Black Marker

1. To make each section, cut 2 pieces of wire 6 inches long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from the same end of each wire. Hold the wire ends with your needle-nose pliers and make 3 to 4 twists at this point.
2. Separate the wires. String on beads to both wires until you have 11/4 inches left at the other ends. Using your needle-nose pliers twist the wires 3 or 4 times. Slightly twist the 2 beaded wires 2 to 3 times to weave them together. Bend the section into an arc or half circle shape. Make 3 of these sections. See Figure 1.
3. Find the center of your base. Make a dot with the marker at this point. From this dot measure 2 1/2 inches on each side and make dots at each of these points.
4. From each end dot measure 1 1/4 inches towards the center and make a dot at each of these points. you should have a total of 5 dots marked on the base.
5. Take a section and starting at one of the side dots, wrap one end wire around the base from back to front. Cut off any excess. Pull the other end wire towards the front. Wrap the wire from front to back a few times. Cut off any excess.
6. Attach the other end of the section right beside the center dot. Wrap one end wire from back to front a few times. Cut off any excess. Pull the other end wire towards the front. Wrap this wire from front to back a few times and cut off any excess.
7. The next section end wires will be attached at the second dot from each base end. This will end being the center section.

8. The third section end wires are attached beside the center dot and at the last dot. See Figure 2.
9. To finish your tiara, cut a piece of wire 3 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end and make a bend at this point. Place the bend at the top of the base before the first section. Holding the wire in place with your fingers, wrap the end a few times, back towards the end.
10. String on a bead and wrap the wire around the base twice. Keep the bead flat against the base. Continue to attach beads this way until you get to the other side, after the last section. Wrap the wire around the base a few times and cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

CHERRY BLOSSOM TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters
- * Flexible Ruler or Vinyl Measuring Tape

1. To make a flower blossom stem cut a piece of wire 9 inches long. String on a 6 beads and bring to the center. Bend the wire into a U-shape.
2. Cross the wire ends keeping them even. Hold the wire with your needle-nose pliers and twist 5 or 6 times.
3. Separate the wires. On one wire string on 6 beads and bend into a U-shape. Measure 1/4 inch from the twisted end. Bring the beads right past this point. Cross the wires over and twist until you come to the twisted stem.
4. Put the two wires back together and twist 4 or 5 times. Separate the wires again. They will be uneven. The longer end wire should be on the opposite side of the flower blossom.
5. String 6 beads onto this wire. Bend into a U-shape. Measure 1/4 inch from the twisted end. Bring the beads right past this point. Cross the wires and twist until you come to the twisted stem.
6. Put the wires back together and twist 4 or 5 times. Push on the flowers slightly to make them more rounded. Make 3 of these. See Figure 1.
7. For the single flower stems cut a piece of wire 4 1/4 inches long. String on 6 beads and bring to the center. Bend into a U-shape. The wires ends should be even. Hold the wires with your needle-nose pliers and twist the beads 3 to 4 times. Make 4 of these.

8. Take one of the flower blossom branches and place it in the center of the base. The twisted part should touch the top of the base.
9. Hold the stem with your fingers. Use your needle-nose pliers to wrap one end wire from back to front, a few times. Cut off any excess. Pull the other end wire towards the front. Wrap the wire from front to back, a few times. Cut off any excess.
10. Next, take a single flower stem and attach it to the base the same way, spaced 1 inch apart.
11. Next, attach another flower blossom branch then a single flower stem spaced 1 inch apart. Use this same pattern for the other side of the tiara. See Figure 2.
12. To finish off your tiara , cut a piece of wire 3 1/2 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end and make a bend at this point. Place the bend at the top of the base just before the first stem. Holding the wire at the bend, wrap back towards the end a few times. Cut off any excess.
13. String a bead on the other end of the wire. Wrap around the base twice. Keep the bead flat against the base.
14. Continue to attach beads the same way until you get to the last stem. Wrap the wire a few times around the base just after the last stem and cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

GWENDOLYN TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Assorted Beads or Pearls With Large Holes
- * Wire-24 Gauge
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Round-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters

1. Cut 6 pieces of wire 14 inches long. Gather all of the wires together making sure the ends are all even. Using your needle-nose pliers, twist 1 1/2 inches of the wire from one end. Make a small loop with your round-nose pliers from this end.
2. Gently separate the wires into sets of 2. String a bead on each set of wires. See Figure 1.
3. Continue separating the wires into different sets of two or leave some single. String beads on at different points. Do this until there is 1 1/2 inches left.
4. Separate the wires into 3 sets of 2. String a bead onto each set. Twist the remaining wires to the end. Make a small loop from the end with your round-nose pliers.
5. To finish off your tiara, fluff out the wires by gently pulling the sets of wire open and shaping them. Bend the tiara into a U-shape. Make sure that both loops are pointing the same way. See Figure 2.

ELIZABETH TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads-Small and Large
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters

1. To make the center stem, cut a piece of wire 5 3/4 inches long. String on a large bead and bring it to the center. Cross the wires. Holding the end wires with your needle-nose pliers, twist the bead twice.
2. Separate the wires. On one wire string, 2 small beads, 1 large bead and 2 small beads. String the same pattern on the other wire.
3. Cross the wires again and twist twice. See Figure 1.
4. For the smaller stems cut 8 pieces of wire 5 inches long. Take one bead and bring it to the center of one of the wires and cross them. Holding the end wires with your needle-nose pliers, twist the bead twice.
5. Separate the wires. String on 3 small beads on each end wire. Cross the wires and twist them twice.
6. Find the center of your base. Place the largest stem at this point. Using your needle-nose pliers, wrap one of the end wires around the base from back to front.
7. Pull the other end wire towards the front. Wrap this wire around the base, from front to back.
8. Next, attach 4 of the small stems repeating steps 6 and 7. Space them 1/2 inch apart. See Figure 2.
9. For the opposite side, attach the other 4 stems the same way. Space them 1/2 apart.

10. To finish your tiara, cut a piece of wire 3 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end and make a bend at this point.
11. Place the bend at the top of the base, just before the first stem. Holding the wire with your fingers, wrap it around the base from this point to the end.
12. String on a bead on the other wire. Wrap the wire around the base twice. Keep the bead flat against the base.
13. Continue to attach beads this way until you get to the last stem. Wrap the wire around the base a few times. Cut off any excess. See Figure 3.

OCEAN TIARA

You Will Need:

- * Beads
- * Wire
- * Tiara Base
- * Needle-Nose Pliers
- * Wire Cutters
- * Ruler

1. To make the center stem, cut a piece of wire 8 inches long. String a bead on and bring to the center.
2. Cross the end wires over. Twist the bead while holding the end wires with your needle-nose pliers. Twist until there is 1 1/4 inches left.
3. Holding the stem with one hand, push the twisted section around your finger into a half-circle. Push the next section the opposite way. Continue this until you get to the end of the twisted section. See Figure 1.
4. For the next stems, cut 2 pieces of wire 7 inches long. String on a bead and bring it to the center. Cross the wires. Holding the end wires with you needle-nose pliers, twist the bead until there is 1 1/4 inches left. Repeat step 3 for both stems.
5. For the other stems cut lengths of wire as follows, 2 pieces of 6 inch wire, 2 pieces of 5 inch wire and 4 pieces of 4 inch wire.
6. Repeat steps 2 and 3 for all of the other stems. You should have a total of 11 stems.
7. Find the center of your base. Place the longest stem on the base. Using your needle-nose pliers, wrap one of the end wires from back to front, around the base.
8. Pull the other end wire towards the front. Wrap this wire from front to back, around the base.

9. Next place one of the 7 inch stem 1/2 inch apart from the center stem. Repeat steps 7 and 8. The next stem is one 6 inch spaced 1/2 inch apart.
10. Next is one 5 inch stem then two 4 inch stems, spaced 1/2 inch apart and attached the same way. See Figure 2.
11. Repeat this pattern for the other side.
12. To finish your tiara, cut a piece of wire 3 1/2 feet long. Measure 1 1/4 inches from one end. Make a bend at this point.
13. Place the bend on top of the base, just before the first stem. Wrap the wire from this point, back to the end.
14. String a bead on the other wire end. Wrap the wire around the base twice. Keep the bead flat against the base. Continue to attach beads the same way until you get to the last stem. Wrap the wire a few times around the base. Cut off any excess. See Figure 3.
